Lewis County Chemical Dependency - Mental Health – Therapeutic Courts (CD-MH-TC) Sales & Use Tax Strategic Plan

Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) Statement

After hearing the citizens speak on how the lack of access to treatment for chemical dependency and mental health issues affect themselves and their families, the BOCC passed the sales and use tax to support treatment programs and therapeutic courts. The BOCC then created an advisory board to develop a process to receive and review proposals for various programs and make recommendations on how to best use the tax funds. The BOCC supports this Strategic Plan and the work being performed by the advisory board. We anticipate being able to fund programs, which will effectively address the lack of treatment access, in the near future.

Executive Summary

The CD – MH – TC “Project” will utilize funding as provided through the tax initiative to promote strong community partnerships and linkages to ensure Lewis County is addressing the issues of untreated mental health and substance abuse, and the impact that they have upon our justice system and medical treatment facilities, by increasing access to mental health and substance abuse treatment.

The appointed board will look for specific projects that reduce the incidence and severity of chemical dependency and/or mental illness in Lewis County. These projects will be selected based upon their effectiveness and efficiency in diverting targeted individuals from costly intervention and involvement with the justice system and long term medical and mental health care. They will select projects for funding and make recommendation to the BOCC.

The BOCC will make the final determination and authorize funding for the projects submitted by the CD-MH-TC Board. Their final selection will be based upon what is considered to be effective use of taxpayer dollars in promoting chemical dependency treatment, mental health treatment and therapeutic court programs for the purpose of improving the health and welfare of the citizens of Lewis County

Mission

The mission of the CD-MH-TC Sales Tax Advisory Board is to:

Prioritize, advise and facilitate the efficient and effective use of taxpayer dollars in promoting treatment for chemical dependency and mental health and operation of therapeutic court programs for the purpose of improving the health and welfare of the citizens of Lewis County.

Strategic Themes

The following strategic treatment themes will be referred to in meeting the desired outcome as listed in the executive summary above:

- Chemical Dependency – Chemical dependency and its effects upon the individual, their family and society are devastating and directly tied to the health and welfare of the community. The disease is far more complex than the mere abuse of and dependency on mood-altering chemicals and recovery is far more complex than just becoming abstinent. Reducing the numbers of people who are affected by chemical dependency is directly correlated with a decrease in crime, medical treatment and mental health issues within our community.
- Mental Health – Access to mental health care is critical to a healthy community. It is estimated that 1 in 5 Washington residents will experience mental illness in a given year. In Lewis County that would translate to roughly 16,000 people in a year. With these significant numbers we are also experiencing a decrease in resources to adequately help and serve this population. With proper mental health treatment including prevention and early intervention we can reduce the impact upon our justice system and our community.
- Therapeutic Courts – Therapeutic Courts are court supervised treatment programs designed to treat addicted individuals to give them the tools they need to change their lives. Therapeutic Courts reduce recidivism, substance abuse, and child abuse and neglect, improve family relationships, and increase earning potential for participants. Therapeutic Courts are comprised of a multi-disciplinary team, including chemical dependency and mental health professionals, which adheres to the fidelity of the therapeutic court model. Most individuals participating in a therapeutic court program suffer from co-occurring chemical dependency and mental health disorders.

Strategic Goals

Professionals within their field of expertise will develop goals for each of the following strategic themes. Agencies that submit proposals for the use of the sales tax funds will build their projects/programs around these specific goals

1. Chemical Dependency

- Goal #1: Increase access to treatment and support services that promote recovery for adults and youth for residents that do not qualify for other funding sources
- Goal #2: Provide services to individuals who present for treatment with a diagnosis of abuse as an early intervention strategy to reduce the long-term cost of providing services at a higher level
- Goal #3: Promote engagement in treatment and recovery services by utilizing a best practice model that removes barriers that prevent individuals from being successful in treatment and recovery
- Goal #4: Provide education, screening, referral and brief intervention services in the community. (Emergency room, Jail, Medical Facilities etc.)

2. Mental Health

- Goal #1: Increase access and continuity in treatment and support services for families and individuals regardless of ability to pay.
- Goal #2: Reduce inappropriate use of county, municipal, and community resources by individuals who have co-occurring mental health and chemical dependency issues.
- Goal #3: Improve quality of treatment and support services by utilizing best practice models to create innovative programs.

3. Therapeutic Courts

- Goal #1: Implement therapeutic courts that adhere to the key components.
- Goal #2: Reduce substance abuse and promote long term recovery among participants in therapeutic courts.
- Goal #3: Reduce future involvement in the court system.
- Goal #4: Improve permanency placement process for children in Family Dependency Treatment Court.
